

Florida Law Schools' Consortium on Racial Justice Fellowship

FAMU College of Law second- and third-year students with an interest in Civil Rights, Criminal Justice Reform, Human Rights and Social Justice are encouraged to apply to become a Florida Law Schools' Consortium on Racial Justice (FLSCRJ) Fellow.

FLSCRJ Fellows selected for the 2021-2022 academic year will work with two Central Florida partners to advance their missions: The Florida Rights Restoration Coalition (FRRRC) and Florida Rural Legal Services (FRLS).

Law students will conduct two workshops annually to share outcomes and increase awareness of issues: one workshop targeting the FAMU Law community and the general public, and the other targeting the consortium of 10 other law schools.

Fellows will commit to 10-15 hours a week to FLSCRJ work.

Fellowship $2500 per semester
(Fall 2021 and Spring 2022)

For additional information or to apply, please contact Kim Crag-Chaderton at kim.cragchaderton@famu.edu

Florida Law Schools' Consortium for Racial Justice Fellows (FLSCRJ) are made possible by a grant from Wells Fargo, N.A.

Application Deadline: July 9, 2021